Series 1 (Tradelink) No. 7/2010 ◆ 19 March 2010

Validity Checking for DCP Commodity Codes

In line with the new features of the Government Electronic Trading Services (GETS), Tradelink has enhanced its system to provide validity checking for DCP Commodity Codes. Starting from 20 March 2010, an error message will pop up on the Dutiable Commodities Permit (DCP) System if user enters an invalid Commodity Code. Details of the enhancement are as follows:

1. If the Commodity Code selected for use in a particular line item is invalid, the following error message will be displayed together with the item number.

(Remarks: The item number will not be shown on the Age Certificate Application)

2. By referring to the item Number, user can search for the correct Commodity Code and make the necessary correction before submission to the Government.
