DWS Partners with DTTNCo

*Facilitating Electronic Transmission of Business Documents
Boosting Operational Effectiveness and Competitiveness*

(Hong Kong, 18 July 2007) Digital Trade and Transportation Network Limited (“DTTNCo”) announced today that it is entering into a partnership arrangement with Data World Solutions Limited (“DWS”).

DTTNCo is an associated company of Tradelink Electronic Commerce Limited (“Tradelink”, SEHK: 0536) and part-owned by the Hong Kong Government. DTTNCo operates the world’s first electronic platform for the trade and logistics community to facilitate the exchange of electronic documents and information. DWS, established in 1983, is a leading business management solutions specialist offering a series of electronic management solutions to over 3,000 corporate customers in the Asia Pacific region.

Under the partnership arrangement, DWS’s enterprise resources planning (“ERP”) solution will be integrated with the DTTN platform to allow users to exchange a full suite of commonly used business documents via the DTTN platform with their partners.

Lawrence Mak, Director and General Manager of DWS, remarked, “It is our pleasure to cooperate with DTTNCo. With the uniqueness of the DTTN, we believe that the information exchange and efficiency of the whole supply chain can be enhanced. At the same time, the neutrality of this electronic infrastructure can provide trust to the users and also ensure security and reliability.”

Bernard Fung, Chief Operations Officer of DTTNCo, said, “DTTN is a flexible, neutral and open electronic platform and can facilitate software vendors and service providers to develop and deliver quality applications and value-added services to their customers. DTTN allows enterprises to process and manage commonly used business documents with their trading partners in a more efficient, and secured manner. We are confident that our partnership with DWS can offer a more comprehensive ERP application for the industry.”
